

Some Reason After All!!

“Hi” she said, to him who was drowned in his darkest thoughts and desires. She was still stranger. It was like a dinghy floating across the pacific ocean in the middle of the night with the darkness quelling the little bit of light left. Then her words started falling like rain in the darkness and so shudders his words like thunder. A rainbow wasn’t expected yet, a rainbow was a symbol that says there will be no rain again. More the rain got harder more stars to appear through the darkness, as the light gets brighter and brighter he started to see her. As the time passes he realizes she has been a galaxy of stars brightening his life. It was not at all about a feeling of intimacy but a bond of their own. When she appeared she was an angel with four eyes, and he explained her using a decanter which could fill 10 ounces. “She had 3 ounces of kindness, 3 ounces of love, 3 ounces of beauty and 1 ounce of chubbiness”, he explained. She was a sorcerer to him, he was sure that she might be an angel. There was respect between those she expressed, love was not an option, but it was something utterly different, he could feel her, her skin was cold like winter but her kindness was warm like summer. He could remember her first remember rain drop was fallen two days before the day of nativity. It was not a long time, but day by day they got closer. There was saying, “Time heals everything”, but the saying was proven wrong, time doesn’t but someone. His sense of humor wasn't a surprise. She gave him happiness through every drop of rain. As the miles of skin that is hid behind the clothes there were more secrets to be revealed. A darkness must be present to the light to be visible, the darkness had not left yet. The end has not yet approached. The rain kept falling while it was thundering with a light of life.